Hongkong, July 25th, 1883.

AFTER being suppressed for several years the publication of the Colonial Surgeon's report has been recommenced. A supplement to Saturday's Gazette contained Dr Avers's report for 1882, together with its various annexes, and the public is thus placed in possession of information as to the health and sanitation of the place in which they live-information which no community ought to be without. A tremendous amount of the disease and misery in the world is this ignorance the publication of officia medical reports is a potent factor, opening the eyes of the public to evils to be guarded angainst in the particular localities to which comparative ignorance of the danger which they refer and exposing insanitary-conditions which require rectification. it reached the slarming total of 1,478; in 1880 and 1881 the number was not much above a thousand, but last year it again rose litan Dock. to 1,215. Dr. AyBESSAYS :- " That this class of cases should be stendily increasing year after year is proof enough that there is something radically wrong somewhere, and Mr. CHADWICE's and my own reports of the state of the Chinese houses in this city give sufficient evidence that there is every reason to believe much of it is caused by the foul and unwholesome state of these dwellings." At last, however, somothing is to be done to remedy the defective annitation of the Colony. The various suggestions recommended by Mr. CHADWICK are to be carried out at an estimated total cost of $1,000,000. The amount is a considerable one, but the object to be attained amply justifies the expenditure. one of Mr. PRICE's letters laid on the table at the recent meeting of the Legislative Council [632] we are informed that a portion of the sanitary plant for which he requisitioned is intended to be employed in the drainage and sewerage of certain native tenements or groups of tenements which will be set up as models to the rest of the Chinese houses in the town. Whether the setting up of these models would of themselves have much effect doubtful, but an improvement in the construction of Chinese tenements is urgently required and no time ought to be lost in bringing the proposed new Building Ordinance forward. Mr. CHADWICE, in his report, after referring to the etyle of Chinese dwellings in Hongkong and their overcrowding, says -"The type of house in Hongkong is quite different from that in use on the neighbouring mainland, and I am certain that the lower class papulation is more densely packed together in Hongkong, and worse provided with appliances for cleanliness than they are in Canton." Commenting on this, Dr. AYRES points out that the evil has of late years become more accentuated by the increase in the number of storeys in Chinese houses, the houses now being built three or four storeys high, instead of two as formerly, and each storey is subdivided by cocklofts. Mr. CHADWICK SAYS :- " Instances are to Correspondents are requested to forward their name | found where the outer wall of one property as to leave an inaccossible space between

The menof war sailers on daty at the Consulte thought differently, and refused to admit them to the Consular grounds. In consequence of this, they created a disturbance, whereupon the Police took them in hand and looked them up. On the 15th July they were all but one sett on board their vessel, the Iraquaddy, but the other one, belonging to the Amerique, found that his vessel had sailed without him."

There was a good attendance of Professor Haselmayer's last entertainment at the City Hall on Monday night, though the rain which fell at nine o'clock probably keptmany away, and among others the Governor and party, who it was appounced, would be present. The enter tainment, as usual, was excellent, and much approciated. Some individual, who appeared to be under the influence of drink, caused some annoy ance by going on the stage to play whist with Psycho, and there misbehaving himself. had enough sense left, however, to leave the stage without opposition when requested to do so by Professor Haselmayer, and his place was taken by another more competent.

It was a case which showed the necessity which existed for the making of some law or other to regulate Chinese partnerships and ensure the registration of the parties in them. This action was brought on a charter by George Louis Castle, Supreme Court yesterday before the Chief on behalf of himself and the owners, and the Tak Hing Loong firm was or were the defendants. discharge the three prisoners charged with fraud. Although it appeared that more than one matter. and whose case the Attorney-General had was to be referred to by way of defence, still he withdrawn, and to deal with the second case thought it would ultimately appear that there on the calendar. This was a charge against a was only one issue for them to try, via., who was man named Kwan Ashn of obtaining money by or were the parties constituting the Tak Hing Loong. The three defendants had been sued, and but did not put in an appearance for his trial. of them only Leong Man Yu had entered an answer to the petition. The others had entered no his recognisances would be estreated, and the defence; one of them, Yu Tak Fai, appeared as a witness for the plaintiff, while the third put in no appearance at all. The only serious question was whether Leung Man Yu was a member of the firm and therefore a party to the contract. He did not think it could be disputed that there had been a breach of the charter party. Mr. Francia proceeded to read the plaintiff's petition, which elaborately set out the facts he had stated and further showed that the charter party part of the world where she could go with safety, carrying any lawful kind of cargo, on the 27th May, 1882, on which day the steamer was placed at the disposal of the Tak Hing-Loong, who took her and employed her for three months and two days; but after the expiration of that time they refused to employ the steamer any longer or to carry out the remaining portion of their charter party, or to pay for the hireof the same. The plaintiff then endeavoured to obtain employment for the steamer in these waters, and not being successful, he went seeking to Calcutta, where he obtained a charter for Sydney and Mclbourne at the best rate available. In consequence of the breach of the charter party the Phintiff had lost $20,000, and he prayed that an inquiry might be made by the court, the amount of his injury ascertained, and the defendants directed to pay for whatever loss it might be found he had sustained. In the answer to the petition. Leong Man Yu denied everything. He denied that he was carrying on trade with anyone under the style of the Tak Hing Loung or that he signed or authorised anyone to sign on defendants filed no answer, and an order of the the steamer was employed by the charterers for party, and $2000 before the departure of the steamor. It was also provided that in the event saying that their clients instructed them to state that they considered the charter was determined, they refused to proceed with it, and repudiated all liability in the matter. Mr. Francis said the plaintiff took his steamer away, after giving the Tak Hing Loong notice that he would do so. There could be no quester party as stated by Masses. Sharp, Toller, and Johnson. This case was almost entirely against Laung Man Yu, and by the evidence of Yu Tak Fai he would show that Loung Man Yu had been a partner, he had been acting as the charterer of the steamer, and by other evidence he should show that the plaintiff and Mesers. Arnhold Karberg & Co. had always dealt with him. Mr. Francis proceeded to read the evidence of the plaintiff, which had been taken on oath efore the Registrar of the Court before his departure. He swore to the charter party being

The Marine Sub-Prefest when he sat down in the blind alley had little idea how long he was to be kept there. Mr. Chen, of the Mixed Court, who also ranks as a Sub-Prefect, came there to "quell the disturbance and preserve order" as he would call it in a produmation; but between the two Sub-Projects and their feebleness in allowing mob to take complete control over them, they were very near causing a serious riot. The Marina Sub-Prefact wished to have Si-youy. the detective, called before him, as he had no doubt been told by the friends of the deceased that Bi yang had caused the death of the man; although there is not the slightest ground for such an accusation death believed to have resulted from cholers. A message was sent to the Central Police Station that Si-wang was wanted at the inquest, but his attendance was refused. Chen then came with all his retinue, and said that the Marine Sub-Prefect could not finish the inquest unless Si-yung was taken before the body of the deceased. During the afternoon and evening Mr. Chan made no less than four visits to the Police Station; and Mr. Penfold, acting on special instructions from the Municipal Council, declined to give up Si-rang. It was known that the loafers and ruffians who had congregated in the streets near where the Coroner was sitting. were determined to kill the detective, and the mandaring themselves grow they were powerless to prevent the meb doing anything they liked. Mr. Penfold, Superintendent of Police, sald to Mr. Chonthat if he gave a guarantee that Si-yung would be returned safely to the Police Station, he might be allowed to take him; but Mr. Chen said he could secure that he would take him there all right, but he would not seeme that he would he hearth hack Messeymers same to the Police Station repeatedly after nine o'clek, saving that the Marine Sub-Prefect was still sitting, waiting for Si-yung, and that he could not go home until he finished the inquest. The demand for the attendance was again and again refused, and the messengers were sent back to say that he would be produced at the Mixed Court at 10 a.m. to-day. It was reported that the mob of loafers and thieres were still clamouring for the production of Si-yung, and they refused to allow the Marine Sub-Prefect to come out of the alley. It was deemed expedient that the police should not go near the place, also it would only bring the disturbance to a head and a serious fight would ensue. Native policemen in plain clothes were oppasionally sent to see how affairs were going on, and they reported that the mob was very violent. On his return Judge Denny wrote, a disputch to the Taotai, pointing out the errors which had been committed. To this the Taotai at once replied, suggesting that the matter should be left over until the return of the District Magistrate, whose duty it would be to try the case. but consenting to give the man up, if the that he will succeed there better than he did in Municipal Council still pressed for that course, Korea. on their giving a guarantee that the man would be produced on a day to be appointed for the joint investigation by the District Magistrate and the Consular Officer. The Municipal Council decided to give the guarantee asked for, and Superintendent Penfold with a body of police went into the city on the evening of the 19th to claim the person of the accused. On arrival at the Taotai's Yamen it was aspertained that Si-Yung was not there, but was still at the runners reported that there were thousands of men waiting outside the city gates. Finally the expedition had to return unsuccessful. The scare as to mobs waiting outside the city gates turned out to be without any real foundation. The affair has created great excitement and Indignation in the Settlement, and Mr. Scott's action in the first instance has been severely animaadverted on. Mr. Drummond addresses a letter to the N. C. Daily News with the object of fixing the responsibility upon the Municipal Council, who, he argues, ought to have been represented when the man was first brought before Chen and the mother's death. Assessor. In the course of his letter he says :-"The importance of this incident can only be properly measured by a consideration of the present state of local politics. poor old used up Muddy Flat."

CHI-MAN PU. 3rd July When I promised you are account of the Yellow River flood, I did not know I should be able to make my word good so soon as this. The probabilities of a flood were based upon our hope of the summer rains, and the jueffectual efforts of the officials working upon the River The officials have no doubt planned well and worked hard, and more work has really been done than I thought; but the summer rains have not come, and the River has been exceedingly low. Notwithstanding all this I have now to report a flood, with a break or breaks in the River banks that have already proved serious and the danger is not over. On the 24th and 25th of June the River, which was so very low a few days before, was reported full and overflowing. I did not believe it, but I soon had painful evidence of the fact Near Lo-k'ou, five English miles from this city, coourred the first serious break that I heard of, but I soon heard of several both above and below. The country was rapidly flooded. The break here was on the south side; now I hear of the country north of the river being flooded, though it is difficult to get exact information yet. One morning, four days after the break. I went out to see for myself. I tried to get to the river or Henry Ward Beecher observes that "when As at least to Lo-k'ou, but could not. H.E. Li Hung-chang took over yesterday, at 8 a.m., the seals of his office as Pai Yan Ta Ching. &c., or Grand Secretary. Since H.E.'s return here he has been very depressed, and will hardly receive any one. It is attributed by Chinese to H. Peking is well nigh deserted. Most of the residents have gone to their temples at the bills. The Belgian and Japanese Ministers are the only representatives of the diplomatic body in town. The season has been unusually dry. The grass is scorohed, the hills are bare, and the outlook for the later crops is by no means hopeful. The people look chiefly to their later crops. Rarely does it occur that the middle of July is reached without so much almost as a single shower. Although it has not rained, however, the weather has been unusually cool, northerly breezes blowing almost constantly. A little rain is now falling, and it is hoped it may continue for some time.—N.
